New York Buildings Hit By Time Bombs

NEW YORK (AP) — Bombs exploded in three Manhattan skyscrapers early today, slightly injuring one man and causing limited damage.

About six hours later a news agency received an unsigned special delivery letter saying, "During this week of antiwar protest, we set off explosions in offices of Chase Manhattan, Standard Oil, and General Motors."

The letter, blaming "the giant corporations of America" for the world's ills, was in the same literate, press release style of similar letters sent to news agencies after a bomb exploded outside Army and Navy offices in the Manhattan federal building last Sept. 19.

Police said they were investigating the letter.

The new blasts occurred about 1:05 a.m., minutes after telephone warnings. The letter claiming responsibility for them had two separate postmarks, one at 11:10 p.m. and another at 12:05 a.m. It was sent to United Press International.

The blasts hit in the 70-story RCA Building in Rockefeller Center, the 50-story General Motors Building at 30th Street and Fifth Avenue and the 60-story Chase Manhattan Building in the downtown financial district.

The blast in the GM building caught maintenance employee Joseph Brando, 31, of Brooklyn, in a freight elevator two floors away. He was planning to stop the elevator before it stopped and he managed to get out. He was not seriously injured.

All of the blasts occurred in or near elevator shafts causing heavy local damage but no fire. All occurred at about 1:05 a.m. EST. All could have been fatal to anyone in the immediate area, officials said.

Police warned first hint of the impending blasts came at 12:35 a.m. Police said a man telephoned the security police at the Chase Manhattan Building and warned:

"There are three bombs which will go off at about the same time in three different buildings."

At the same time a switchboard operator at the RCA Building took a call from a man who said, "I am calling to let you know there is going to be a bomb exploding from the 11th floor to the 18th floor in 20 minutes."

At the GM Building police said a call was received about 1 a.m. warning that everyone should be evacuated between the 16th and 24th floors.

At each of the buildings search procedures were started. Fire officials said the bomb went off on the 16th floor of the Chase Manhattan Building next to the elevators, causing extensive damage to the elevator shaft and doors and blowing out at least six windows on the Liberty Street side of the building.

There was also light damage to the 16th and 17th floors. At the RCA Building—the 11th highest skyscraper in New York and sixth highest in the country—the blast occurred on the 20th floor in a corridor between two banks of elevators.

Walls and ceilings collapsed in the immediate area of the blast, furniture was shattered and windows were blown out. One elevator fell to the ground floor after the explosion, according to an RCA security guard.

At the General Motors Building, near the southeast corner of Central Park, the blast went off in a freight corridor on the 19th floor.

Brando, the injured man, was riding a freight elevator down past the 17th floor and the car fell to the 11th floor.

The corridor, in the central well of the building, is surrounded on that floor by offices full of computers. Only an office directly opposite the north door of the corridor appeared to be damaged.

Brando, the injured man, was riding a freight elevator down past the 17th floor and the car fell to the 11th floor.

The suit alleged that a ban announced by Robert H. Finch, U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Oct. 18 was "illegal, unjustified and not based on reasonable scientific findings." The suit named Finch as defendant.

The company asked for a temporary injunction to set aside the HEW order, a review of the order and court assistance in securing evidence supporting a company claim that the ban order was not based on reasonable medical facts.

The suit said all of the firm's customers cancelled orders for the soft drinks Oct. 20. The HEW order had the effect of "confiscating and making worthless" all of the firm's cyclamate inventory, the suit said.

Marchers Told GI Clothes Not Capitol Dress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says servicemen who wear their uniforms in this week's "march against death" demonstration in the nation's capital will be arrested, turned over to their commanders and perhaps court-martialed.

This warning came as the Pentagon alerted several thousand troops outside the Washington area for possible capital duty should violence erupt at the war protest demonstration.

"Army personnel who participate in these activities while in uniform will be in violation of Department of Defense and Department of the Army directives and regulations," the Army said.

Maximum punishment for "violating or failing to obey any general order or regulation" is two years at hard labor plus a dishonorable discharge.

Commanding officers could choose some form of less severe administrative-type discipline.

In a closely related matter, Pentagon legal experts were debating whether action could be taken against servicemen who allow their names to be used publicly in behalf of war protest activities.

A full-page advertisement appeared in the Sunday edition of the New York Times listing what was said to be the names of 1,365 active duty personnel opposed to American involvement in Vietnam.

Civilian legal experts said at first glance they would be hard-pressed to establish a case that publication of the men's names presented "a clear danger to loyalty, discipline or morale of the troops," one of the guidelines listed in a Pentagon dissent directive.

Johnson, a former national commander of the American Legion and a Nixon appointee, strongly endorsed the use of Veterans Day to show support for the administration's Vietnam policy. He sent 100,000 packets of material to school and community leaders.

"I do not presume to speak for him (Nixon)," Johnson said in his prepared remarks. "However, I do know how dedicated he is to the task of achieving the theme of Veterans Day 1969—peace with honor."

"To those who may think, or would have others think, that they alone understand and abhor the suffering and savagery of war—to them I say now that they do an injustice to America's 40 million veterans."

The resolution passed in the Senate Monday called the 41-year-old Augustine, chairman of the biophysics department at Michigan State University, a "brilliant biophysicist (who) devoted his life in attempting to bridge the gap between religion, science and politics."

Augustine also was a member of the State Board of Education and was an aspiring U.S. Senate candidate. He was a Republican.

Funeral services were scheduled today.

The Senate resolution said "Dr. Augustine was one of the foremost of Michigan's eminent creative men, unique in his fusion of expertise, compassion, political awareness and moral responsibility, all of which he endowed with abundance to and for his fellow men."

'Silent Majority' Backs Vets, Nixon's Policy

Most Organizations Support War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans honored all who have served in its armed forces today amid demonstrations of support for President Nixon's Vietnam policy and preparations for protests against the U. S. course in that latest of conflicts.

Those who back the administration's Vietnam position seized on Veterans Day to try to signify that there is in fact a "great, silent majority" just as Nixon said in a Nov. 3 speech.

The date, which marked the end of fighting in World War I in 1918, was observed as Armistice Day until 1954. For the past 15 years it has been Veterans Day, a salute to American veterans of all wars.

Veterans Day 1969 comes only a week and a day after Nixon asked the nation for support to Vietnam and only two days before the start of a new round of war protests which are to wind up with a mass rally in Washington Saturday.

Ardent supporters of the President hoped today's activities would become a counterdemonstration to the war protest. Civic, fraternal and veterans' organizations came up with or announced support for ad hoc groups opposing moratoriums and other "get out of Vietnam now" demonstrations.

While they carried on their programs today, Nixon himself was headed for a veterans' hospital in the capital. His daughter, Mrs. David Eisenhower, followed his lead but chose a hospital in Northampton, Mass.

Nixon issued his Veterans Day proclamation on Sept. 24, calling for citizens to honor "those men who have preserved our Union and our freedom."

"I ask that special prayers for peace be offered for our men still involved in defending the inalienable right of liberty; and for those whose memory we honor with a star of gold, let us pause in silent tribute on this Veterans Day, praying that they did not die in vain and that their sacrifices will bring us peace."

Placing of the traditional presidential wreath for the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery was assigned to David Packard, deputy secretary of defense. And the administrator of veterans affairs, Donald E. Johnson, prepared a speech warmly supporting Nixon's attempt to end the war in Vietnam. He said tickets for all reserved seats for the 11 a.m. program at Arlington were taken for the first time in 18 years.

Three-Ring Circus At State Capitol

LANSING (AP) — A group of white students from Michigan State University—unhappy over a senator's criticism of some black students—set quietly in the Senate gallery Monday night as senators turned the chamber into what a few termed "A three-ring circus."

Police On Hand More than 50 State Police troopers, some armed with night sticks and riot helmets, remained out of sight and no incidents were reported.

State Police Director Fredrick Davids and acting MSU President Walter Adams also were on hand.

One and one-half hours of Senate discussion centered around a resolution calling for dismissal and criminal prosecution of some 150 black MSU students involved in a mid-October incident at a university cafeteria.

The resolution, sponsored by Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, remained in Senate committee.

Student Letter Read A letter from the student governing body, read to the Senate by Sen. Roger Craig, D-Deerborn, Monday, called Bowman's resolution "an irresponsible, ill-informed, ill-founded and tasteless attack upon the students of his institution."

"Moreover, he has demeaned the dignity of his office and of the Senate of this state in the eyes of students, faculty, administrators and all enlightened citizens through his words and actions," the letter said.

It called language in the resolution—first including terms such as "black hoodlums" and "black bums," then changed to "students"—"appalling and deplorable."

Resolution Degraded "We deplore this resolution and the language in which it has been presented as an irresponsible and unproductive, indeed, damaging act," the letter said.

Bowman repeated his contention that language in the resolution was not his.

An employee of the legislative service bureau, which draws up bills and resolutions, "was advised that I wanted a firm resolution," Bowman said. "When a copy of the resolution was presented to me on the floor of the Senate there were several phrases which I found most objectionable."

"I then proceeded to strike those phrases from the resolution," he said.

Bowman noted embarrassment to students and parents and called on Adams to tell the Senate and the people what action was being taken against the students involved. "If not, why not?" he asked.

Adams huddled with Bowman later and told newsmen he was encouraging "an open dialogue" among black and white students at MSU.

Hearing Ordered For Hijacker, 14 CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old high school student who tried to hijack an airliner faces a juvenile court hearing Thursday.

David L. Booth, a freshman at suburban Norwood High School, was weeping when turned over to Hamilton County juvenile authorities by FBI agents after federal officials declined to file charges.

U.S. Atty. George Kline of Lexington, Ky., said following the incident Monday that the federal government does not have facilities to handle prosecution of juveniles.

The youth's father, Norris L. Booth, signed an affidavit charging his son is incorrigible and placed him in the hands of Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz.

Young Booth gave no reason for his attempt to hijack a Chicago-bound Delta Airlines plane with 72 aboard on the runway at the Greater Cincinnati Airport by holding a pretty young ballet dancer hostage at knife-point.

Airport Police Chief Byron Korman boarded the plane and talked Booth into surrendering.

Lower Wages For Youths Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level Nixon administration fight is developing over a proposal initiated in the White House to set a special "youth wage" below the federal minimum wage of $1.60 per hour.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans has endorsed the idea, but a spokesman for Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said "he would be opposed to any suggestion that a youth wage could be below the $1.60 minimum."

Organized labor also is sure to oppose any federal plan to let youths work for less than the federal minimum.

"The effect would be to encourage employers to replace family breadwinners with kids at the lower wage rate," said one highly placed labor source.

"There's nothing wrong with that," Stans was quoted as saying in an interview about the replacing of adult workers with youths.

He reportedly said the idea was to set a special, lower wage of $1.20 or $1.25 per hour for youths and "After they reach, say 21, they would get the regular minimum wage."

Government Says:

One In Nine Autos Fail Safety Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has given the public its first look at files showing new automobiles have failed an average of one in nine independent safety tests.

A portion of 800 reports on performance of 1968 and 1969 American and foreign automobiles in six standard safety tests was released Monday by the Department of Transportation.

More Reports Due The department has promised, under heavy pressure from consumer champions in Congress, to bare the rest of the reports, a few at a time, during the next 30 days.

Summarizing the 800 reports, the department said the failure rate of the cars was 11.5 per cent, or one in nine. Tests of individual automobile components showed a failure rate of 10.1 per cent, or one in 10.

The tests, conducted by independent research firms under contract to the government beginning May 1968 and this September, turned up in individual vehicles defects in brake systems, unsafe tires and wheel nuts, weak safety belts and safety belt anchors that came loose under pressure.

Warning Issued Dr. Robert Brenner, acting director of the department's National Highway Safety Bureau, warned against drawing drastic conclusions on the basis of the reports.

"We emphasize that each of these are initial test results, and that a pass rating is no more of an indication that all such vehicles are in conformity with the standards being attempted, any more than one test failure is proof that it is not in conformity."

Comply With Standards When reports of a specific defect are checked back with the automobile manufacturer, Brenner said, they often are found to be in compliance with federal safety standards.

In three years the bureau has brought action against only two tire manufacturers and the maker of the Fiat auto for alleged safety violations.

Unemployment Inc. was served notice last week that three of its brands are suspected of non-compliance. Some 50 investigations are in progress, Brenner said.

Pound Of Marijuana Found In Escanaba

By GARY SUNATHAN

About one pound of a mixture containing marijuana with a retail value of approximately $800 was found recently in Escanaba and Police Chief Richard Frederick today said the state laboratory has confirmed the narcotic content as marijuana.

"Our investigation is continuing," he said.

Marijuana cigarettes are referred to as Texas tea, reefer, stolla, pot, rope, Mary Jane, loco weed, jive, grass, hemp and hay.

Call it what you will, it's worth money to the pushers.

"The value depends on supply and demand," said John Robitaille, city police detective. "The amount of marijuana found here—a little over a pound—probably cost about $150 when it was purchased, and when it is sold retail it would bring about $800."

A Small Group

The two paper bags of marijuana were found in the Chicago & North Western Railway yards by two young boys on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 2. They carried it home, told their father of it, and he called police.

"It was not pure marijuana, but was mixed with other green substances," said Chief Frederick.

"Obviously, marijuana is being used in this area, but how

Symptoms Of Use

Marijuana cigarettes are rolled in a double thickness of brown or white cigarette paper. They are smaller than a regular cigarette, with the paper twisted or lashed in at both ends.

The "tobacco" is greener in color than regular tobacco. The odor of burning marijuana is like that of burning weeds or rope, and the odor may be detected on the breath and clothing.

Pupils of the user's eyes are dilated, there is dizziness, wandering of the mind, lack of coordination, craving for sweets, increased appetite.

Law enforcement officers continue their investigations—sometimes without public awareness of their work, since publication of their efforts would not be in the best public interest. There is cooperation among concerned officers, agencies and individuals.

The local high schools and college officials cooperate fully with the officers, said Chief Frederick.

Signs of Marijuana

"Our contacts with the schools are extremely good," said Robitaille.

Escanaba police released a report showing how to tell if youngsters are using marijuana.

Individual users are difficult to recognize unless they are under the influence of the drug at the time they are being observed.

In the early stages the young person may appear animated and hysterical with rapid, loud talking and bursts of laughter.

In the later stages the person is sleepy or stuporous.

Depth perception is distorted, making driving dangerous.

There is a craving for sweets and a lot of pop is consumed.

Public Meeting On Ore Facility Called Tonight

A public meeting on "Air pollution problems at the ore dock facility" has been called by the Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air for 7:30 p. m. today at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center.

The meeting is the second public forum scheduled in Escanaba on local air pollution problems. Earlier this year, the committee held a public meeting on "Lead Corp. plans to construct a blast process pulp mill at the Escanaba Paper Co."

The Save Our Air Committee last month complained about iron ore dust from the Chicago & North Western Railway Co. ore terminal to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission. Residents of the area also have complained to the City Council of Escanaba and to the Delta County Board of Supervisors.

Deer Cause Three Mishaps

Wandering deer were responsible for three accidents, resulting in moderate damage to three autos, during the past 34 hours.

According to State Police, Edwin Rykman, 51, Houghton, struck a deer with his car on U.S. 2, Wells Township. Rykman escaped injury. He told troopers the deer survived and wandered into the woods following the collision.

A second crash was reported to troopers when an auto being driven by Grant Hess, 54, 1803 Dakota Ave., Gladstone, collided with a deer on County Rd. 803 just south of U.S. 2 in Ensign Township. Hess was unhurt. He told police the deer was injured, but ran into the woods following the accident.

Francis Beauchamp, 34, Rte. 2, Bark River, reported to troopers that he went into a ditch and hit a fence to avoid three deer that were standing in the middle of County Rd. 418 early this morning in Bark River Township. He also escaped injury.

Schools Plan 'Open House'

The Delta-Schools District Intermediate School District, a two-county school unit which could be eliminated if Gov. William Milliken's educational reform proposals are approved by the Legislature, will hold an "Open House" at its offices in Gladstone and Monday, Nov. 17.

Intermediate Sup. Walter J. McClintock said offices will be open to the public from 9 to 5 p. m. and again from 7 to 8:30 p. m. providing "an opportunity for you to meet our staff and to visit our special education offices."

All members of the Intermediate District staff will be "at home" during the program, he said.

The Intermediate District, which includes primarily 10 schools and 10,000 students in Delta and Gladstone counties, has a staff of 15, including McClintock and Richard E. Olson, director of special education.

Other members of the staff are: Speech and Hearing - David Featherhough, coordinator; Carol Chevalier, therapist; and Robert Lupton, teacher consultant; Mental Retardation - James Lindholm, consultant; John VanTassel, consultant; James Ciesner, teacher-trainee; Janice Piotrowski, teacher-trainee; Pupil Personnel Services - Vernon Andrews, psychologist; Jane Hanson, Roger Harbin and Robert Ingle, all social workers.

Under the proposed educational reform, the Delta-Schools Intermediate District would be eliminated in a plan creating some 10 to 15 regional districts in the state.

Intermediate superintendents in the Upper Peninsula have voiced opposition to the plan, pointing out that the geographic size of the Upper Peninsula would cause problems with a district serving, perhaps, all 13 counties in the U.P.

The Intermediate District offices are located in the Industrial Park in Gladstone, immediately behind the State Office Building.

Community School Program Described

The history of the Community School Program and its activities in the Escanaba Area Public Schools was presented to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club by Steve Storey, director of the program here.

The program is designed to help the pre-school children, adults and senior citizens, as well as school-age children, and to make more use of existing buildings for advanced education and recreation, he said. Storey explained that in the Escanaba area, more than $9 million dollars is invested in school buildings, and their utilization to a greater degree is very important.

The Community School program has five basic areas, one of which is Adult Basic Education. This is to help adults who have not finished eighth grade, to learn the fundamental reading, writing and arithmetic, and to prepare them for the high school program. This program is funded through the Federal government, Storey said.

Another segment of the program is the Adult High School program, which enables adults to finish high school and receive diplomas. This area is funded through State aid.

The Adult Enrichment Program offers short term courses of special interest such as art, investment, etc., and is funded through student fees. These fees are kept as low as possible so that all can enroll who wish to do so.

The final two programs are Youth Enrichment and Summer Programs. These are supported with student fees also.

Storey showed a film entitled "To Touch A Child" which depicts the Mott Foundation and its inception. The story is of the Cooks School in Flint, where a physical education director and Mr. Mott joined in utilizing existing facilities in that city, and showed how the program has grown.

The Mott Foundation has funded the Escanaba program to the amount of $3,000 for three years.

Space Budget Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warned it might leave American astronauts figuratively stranded on the moon, the Senate has rejected a proposed $108 million cut in the U.S. space budget.

"You chop a big chunk out of here and ... you won't have enough left to bring those poor fellows down," pleaded Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., before the 46-22 roll call vote to drop the cut.

Pastore said the cut, proposed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., would "crucify the entire program."

Proxmire, who objected to the $3.7 billion earmarked for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in this fiscal year, said Americans already have paid $24 billion to see television record man's first steps on the moon.

"Even by Broadway standards this is a pretty stiff price for a front row seat," Proxmire said. Debate on the appropriations measure, which prohibits a total of $14.9 billion for 21 federal agencies including NASA, was filled with references to yesterday's blastoff of the Apollo 11 moonshot.

"We pray to God that it will be safe," said Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo. "If it is safe I am sure we will receive far more than we know now in scientific knowledge."

Proxmire argued the United States should undertake future space ventures jointly with the Soviet Union, and said he saw little value in nine more projected moonshots.

Pastore said the Soviets have refused to cooperate with Americans in space.

Salmon Run Is Peaking

Coho salmon are becoming easier and easier to catch these days, according to reports by the Department of Natural Resources and the Daily Press.

A large school of coho has moved in near Thompson Creek and a new school of salmon is reported to have moved into the Whitefish River over the weekend.

According to a DNR survey, 34 anglers caught 70 coho just above the U.S. 2 Bridge on the Whitefish over the weekend. Another report says that Whitefish Bay is just "alive with coho."

Huge concentrations of coho can be found in several areas of the Whitefish River. Best spot is a long deep pool located just below where the Haymeadow Creek empties into the Whitefish. A Daily Press survey conducted there Sunday showed 22 anglers catching an estimated 76 fish.

Good catches have also been reported from the Whitefish River below Bill's Creek, Johnson's Rapids, and just above the U.S. 2 Bridge. Coho can be found in almost every deep pool in the river.

The DNR is asking anglers to not clean their fish on the banks of the river. Take them home and clean them, the DNR requests. Owners of the properties near the mouth of Bill's Creek and Haymeadow Creek

THE SLEEPING BEAUTIES

The greatest need in our nation today is for an awakening — on a grand scale — of the public conscience. While America is being torn apart by a mere fraction of the total population the average citizen dozes complacently or smirks at those "crazy demonstrators" that he sees on television.

Most sleeping beauties console themselves in such a manner. It sure beats getting "involved."

Up to now, only veterans' groups, patriotic societies and a mere handful of staunch individuals have had the necessary foresight and fortitude to speak out because they fully believe that America is eminently worth saving.

We believe in America and we've said so. Let us know how you feel — when you're fully awake!

Who Will Care?

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 11, the third day of American Education Week and the question of the day is "What have you done for your schools today?"

Indeed, how many who have read this far after seeing the topic of the editorial are more than subconsciously aware that the school system exists?

There are those times of the year, of course, when the schools make headlines — like when the board of education is asking the community to pay more taxes to support the educational program or it is reducing services because the community refused to pay; or when the teachers strike because they don't have a contract — when everyone is "interested" but on a day-to-day basis do you really know?

Take a little test. Answer a few questions. Simple questions?

1. Who is the superintendent of schools in your community?
2. Does your district have a business manager? If so, who?
3. When does the Board of Education meet? Where? Name the members?
4. Who teaches your children in elementary grades?
5. Do you know positively, if your high school is accredited?
6. How much do you pay in school taxes?

The answers to these questions should be common knowledge. Education is big public business, more than the twice a year variety when the tax proposals or the Board of Education candidates are on the ballot. It goes on all the time and is getting more and more complex all the time.

Education is whirling around in the federal Congress and in the chambers of the U. S. Dept. of Education. It is going on in the State Legislature where Gov. William Milliken's educational reform proposals are being debated in Michigan this year. It is going on in the State Board of Education. It is going on in Intermediate School Districts and with local school boards, both public and non-public. And it should be going on at home, with the citizens.

Like government, education is growing, gaining additional responsibilities almost every day.

The old concept of reading, writing and arithmetic is as obsolete in education as a Model-A Ford is in the automotive world. Both the Three R's and the Model A were great in their times, but neither can keep pace on the modern freeway of life.

Schools are being asked to take over vocational education, providing students with job skills for the adult world; there is a great job over sex education; the sciences are expanding rapidly; counseling services today are required, not optional. Schools are involved in "auxiliary" programs of health, fitness and lunch. There also are adult and special education programs going.

American Education Week focuses on these programs in local schools in an effort to point out to the people the scope of their schools at least once a year.

If you couldn't answer those questions a few words back, maybe it's time to find out.

The schools out there are your schools. If you don't care, who will?

Compulsory Blood Transfusion?

May a person refuse a blood transfusion on which his very life depends? May the law force him to submit? These are grim questions, testing the vitals of freedom, law, and morality, have already confronted a number of our courts.

To begin with, this is not the same as the problem of suicide (which some states still consider a crime). Here, the person is not claiming a right to take his life. He is merely claiming the right to refuse a life-saving transfusion, usually on grounds of religious freedom.

But religious freedom, as guaranteed by the Constitution, is not without limits. Although the state must not interfere with a person's religious beliefs, it may indeed interfere with his religious practices if they are sufficiently harmful.

On this basis, one court did order a compulsory blood transfusion for the dying mother of an infant. The court said her act of refusing the blood, in these circumstances, was an act of irresponsibility toward the child.

"The state will not allow a parent to abandon a child," said the court, "so it should not allow this most ultimate of abandonments."

Another justification for a compulsory transfusion may be that the patient is too far gone to make a rational decision. In one such case, the judge said it was part of a hospital's duty to take the initiative when the patient was no longer competent to decide for himself.

But in a third case, the court faced a different set of facts. This time, the dying man had no dependent children to leave behind. Furthermore, he was in full control of his faculties. In this situation, the court refused to order a transfusion that the man did not want. The judge commented:

"It is the individual who is the subject of a medical decision who has the final say."

Were these decisions right or wrong? They have been debated passionately by legal authorities, who have reached sharply differing conclusions. But that isn't surprising. On such momentous issues, unanimity would be too much to expect.

Peninsula Potpourri

A Chippewa County Circuit Court jury, deliberating less than two hours, awarded a Newberry woman $10,000 in a personal injury accident suit against a Scott St. Marie chain store. The suit alleged personal injuries were suffered by Mrs. Ruby Green when she reportedly tripped over a television platform in the Montgomery Ward store basement Sept. 7, 1966.

How Do You Defeat An Unflappable Man?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Life can imitate art. Pondering the impact of President Nixon's Vietnam speech, one has the feeling that the national capital is living the plot of one of those Allen Drury novels in which the "liberals," in response to a death wish, try to weaken the nation vis-a-vis the totalitarianism, only to be halted in their design by the forthright stand of a canny and patriotic executive.

This is making melodrama of a situation, but there is something in the air that Drury would applaud. The critics, with dreary accord, have been saying there was nothing new in the Nixon speech. But there was. It was nothing less than a bit of backbone.

Playing a bit more with the Drury parallel, the Nixon analysis and prescription were followed by an avvil chorus of conventionally liberal TV commentators, most of whom did their level best to chop the President up. (Howard K. Smith was a notable and courageous exception.) But the "silent majority" to whom the President had appealed came through. The mail and telegrams were four to one in Nixon's favor, and an early telephone poll supported him on a better than two-to-one basis.

What happened makes me think, perhaps wishfully, that the President will be able to trump the coming Nov. 16-18 "March of Death" demonstrators no matter what they may bring to Washington by way of uproar and the plain meaning of bodies. As Ralph de Toledano indicates in his searching new biography of the President, "One Man Alone," Nixon is actually enjoying an office that had Lyndon Johnson figuratively climbing the White House Oval Room wall.

This is another way of saying that the President is engaged in the happy business of proving that his life has consequences and meaning in terms of both his career and his basic character.

Once depicted as subject to panicky reactions when things went against him, Nixon has become the unflappable man.

The yuppies may yell, but they aren't going to break Richard Nixon as they broke Lyndon Johnson. The fact is that our President has shown that he is just as eager as McCarthyite Sam Brown, the first, or Oct. 15, Moretium organizer, to end the casualties in South Vietnam.

But instead of making a naive appeal to the blank wall that is Hanoi, Nixon has adopted the sort of double-trick policy that the Soviets have had such success in using when they balance legalistic appeals with various types of activism. There is insurance in this: Nixon is willing to play for a break at the Paris Peace Talks, but meanwhile, if the heirs of Ho remain obstinate, there is the "Vietnamization" policy to pursue. This puts the pressure on Hanoi, and where is the sensible person who will object to that? Nixon is sure he is right, and a man of conviction is not easily swayed.

At the dinner for Britain's Prince Philip, given by the President in the White House, Nixon's happy inflexibility was plainly obvious. In the midst of the festivities, news came that the Republicans were winning the governors' races in Virginia and New Jersey. Nixon positively beamed; he had put his reputation on the line by campaigning in both states, and, at the very least, his Vietnam speech hadn't hurt the Republicans in either one. Vietnam opponent John Lindsay's failure to get a clear majority of the vote in New York City didn't hurt Nixon either.

Meanwhile, three men who had served the past four Presidents as Secretary of State — Dean Acheson, Dean Rusk and William Rogers — were in effect telling the diners that when one sits in the White House Oval Room, foreign policy must take on certain contours that cannot be labeled either Republican or Democratic.

"I am a member of the loyal opposition," said Rusk, "but after listening to last night's speech I must say that I am more loyal than opposition."

In hitting at Nixon, the Nov. 14-15 marchers are aiming at a moving target. By refusing to put specifics — the nuts and bolts sort of thing — into his speech, Nixon has reserved his trumps.

The Maoists and Trotskyites who planned the "March of Death" last July 4 in Cleveland may find in January that the troops are coming back faster from Vietnam than anyone really believes possible. There could even be a satisfactory decision on the draft. But Nixon has preserved his option to move in relation to Hanoi's behavior. If he had tried to make a "new" speech in terms of fixed withdrawal figures and dates, he would have destroyed the possibility of putting any pressure on Hanoi. "Peace" might have been nearer, but only on terms of surrender.

The American people haven't yet come to that.

Romanticism Could Break Friends

By E. JAY BUCKNER

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's girl friend left a beautiful, three-strand pearl necklace in his car after a dinner date last night. Should I return it to her, or should I keep it as a little present to myself? I'll do as you say. — Enthusiast

Dear Ann: Some women leave things in our intentionality to force the wife's hand. Don't allow this dolly to maneuver you into doing something you really don't want to do.

Give the necklace to your husband and tell him you have no idea whose it is. Suggest that perhaps it belongs to one of the girls he works with and she lost it in the car when he gave her a ride home. And if you know your husband's face as well as most wives, do him a favor and don't look at him when you provide the alibi. He might dissolve.

Dear Ann Landers: Am I a "rotten mother" as my 13-year-old daughter says? Here's the picture:

Ronda and her husband bought a house across the street. They both work the night shift — 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. At 10 p.m. every evening Ronda brings over her three small children (4, 2, and 7 months old) — dressed for bed. I put the children to sleep, get them up in the morning, give them breakfast and keep an eye on them. At 3 p.m. Ronda comes over and takes the children home. At 4 she is back — to have coffee or check my refrigerator to see what's good.

I need some time by myself or I'll crack up. Was I wrong to say so? Yesterday I just wanted to be alone. When I told Ronda, she said, "I have never heard of a mother who wasn't happy to see her daughter, anytime. There must be something wrong with you." She slammed the door and left — mad.

Ann, I am 42 — she is 23. Maybe she doesn't need a few quiet moments to renew her spirit, but I do. If I'm a rotten mother, please tell me and I'll try to do better. — Thinking It Over

Dear Think: You are a good mother. She is a rotten daughter. Spoiled rotten, that is. But then, take a bow dearie, you spoiled her.

Insist that Ronda respect your need for time alone. Tell her the alternative is the day shift and a hired sister so you can have your mornings to yourself. And don't allow your selfish daughter to make you feel guilty. This is the secret weapon of kids like yours.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a nurse who works in the office of a physician. Since your column seems to be the world's billboard, will you please print this so Miss and Mrs. American will see it.

Yesterday a woman nearly hung herself in the office. She was not dependent or even unhappy. She had on so much junky chain jewelry it was

Safety Testing Begins In Autos 'Against Grain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation announced Monday that a cross-section of 1968 and 1969 model automobiles put through "six safety tests" failed at a rate of 1.5 per cent.

Further, the department said in making public for the first time results of the government-

Department said that there were 25 test failures among 250 vehicles tested by eight laboratories under contract to the government. The highest failure rate, 28.6 per cent, involved fuel tanks, their filler pipes and connections. Failure rates of 12.7 per cent were reported for brake systems; 12.3 per cent for tires and rims; 10.8 per cent for seat-belt assemblies; and 8.6 per cent for seat anchorages.

Brenner emphasized that test failures did not mean that any vehicles were in violation of federal safety standards. Neither, he said, do favorable test results mean that a vehicle or piece of equipment conforms to the standards.

He said the laboratory tests were only one factor in establishing compliance. Final judgment of conformity with federal standards, Brenner said, "can only be made on the basis of a wide range of information, including follow-up testing."

Park Funds

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Traverse City has received a check from the federal government for $115,000 as the government's share for improvement costs at the airport industrial park. Streets and utilities have been installed in the 140-acre park which awaits its first industrial tenant.

Only female mosquitoes bite. The male of most species is, as an entomologist put it, "an inoffensive little insect whose diet is nectar and about whose only function is propagation."

Grounded Ship's Oil Cargo Sinks

ALPENA (AP) — Some 22,000 gallons of oil have been removed from a freighter grounded in northern Lake Huron but salvage officials say more may still be aboard.

A federal contract to remove the oil was granted to the Massey Marine Salvage and Construction Co. of Alpena.

Robert Massey, company president, said Monday his firm had removed the 21,000 gallons covered by the contract. However, Massey said there are still several other tanks on the ship although it is not known if they contain oil. The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration issued the removal contract earlier this year to avoid possible massive oil pollution if the ship breaks up this winter.

The 471-foot vessel, The Nordmeer, ran aground on a sand bar three years ago in what was termed a navigational error. Wave and ice movement have weakened the vessel, raising the possibility it could break up when heavy weather hits this winter.

The anaconda, the largest snake in the world, can swallow a calf whole.

Expect No Vote On UN Seating Of Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly was expected to vote no again today on the annual resolution to seat Communist China in the United Nations.

Peking's chances of winning the Chinese seat now held by the Nationalists was rated nil after several days of lackluster debate which produced little change in basic positions.

It was the 19th time in 20 years that the assembly has debated the China question. But it was a far cry from the early bouts when the issue was a hot one, and invective echoed through the assembly hall. Before the assembly was the usual pro-Peking resolution to seat the Chinese Communists and expel Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, and the anti-Peking resolution holding that to change China's representation requires a two-thirds majority. The vote was expected to run about like it did last year, when the two-thirds resolution was approved 75-47 with 5 abstentions, and the admission resolution was defeated 58-44 with 25 abstentions.

The Soviet Union for the first time did not take part in the debate, but delegates from other Communist nations made plain in their speeches that the Soviet bloc would vote again for Peking.

Also silent were India, once a champion of Peking's cause, and Canada, Italy and Belgium, all three of whom are in the process of establishing diplomatic relations with the Chinese Communist government.

The United States as usual opposed seating the Chinese Communists. But the U.S. spokesman in the debate, Rep. J. Irving Whalley, R-Pa., said that Washington would continue to try to open a dialogue with Peking despite the rebuffs it has received.

Gas Flares East

HANOY (AP) — Gas flares were seen through a haze of smoke and steam as a fire broke out in a gas storage tank at a power station in Hanoi, North Vietnam, Monday.

The gas was being used by workers trying to combat the flood, and initial reports said all available ambulances were being sent to the scene. Residents of the area were being evacuated as the gas spread. Firemen were calling for masks and respirators. Officials said the gas was stored in canisters which were popping in the intense heat. Flames were jumping 75 to 100 feet high. A fire dispatcher in this town south of Hanoi also said there were reports that the building housed some sort of explosive powder, but details on this aspect were lacking. Every available piece of fire fighting equipment from Hanoi and three surrounding communities was rushed to the scene.

Those supporting the President will wear red, white and blue armbands. Also participating in the parade will be 800 members of the Army, Air Force, Marines, Navy, Coast Guard, National Guard and the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets.

THIRTY-FIVE-YEAR-OLD Donald Musser of Belleville, Mich., recuperates in the Wayne County General Hospital after a 15-man surgical team successfully replaced his severed left arm, torn off at the elbow in an accident on Oct. 29. Doctors credit a chain of "ideal circumstances" which included the nearness of the accident to the hospital and the quick thinking of three Westland patrolmen as conditions which allowed the successful re-attachment. # Election Practice Needs Improvement, Clerk Says

By JEAN WOOD

Delta County's government is good but not perfect, County Clerk William E. Butler told the Delta County Government Study Committee at the County Building Monday night.

Among the things that could be improved, he suggested, are election practices, of which he has charge in the county. There are 14 townships and two cities in the county and only the City of Escanaba and the Township of Wells have voting machines.

Money saving is the reason usually given for not buying voting machines, which cost $1,500 each, said Butler, but he believes that they are more economical in the long run than paper ballots. But the county has to pay for paper ballots and the townships have to pay for voting machines. As this is an expense in the election, he said.

Even if all Delta County local governments were to buy voting machines, said Butler, it would not do away with paper ballots completely because they must still be used for absentee voters and they are expected to increase in number substantially, now that persons over 65 may vote absentee ballots in Michigan, even though it is possible for them to get to the polls.

Change Suggested

Butler said that a national convention of election officials which he attended in Portland this year rated Michigan among the best states in the Union in election practices, but he added that machine voting could further improve the process in Delta County. With the trend toward larger ballots and with the possibility of third party primaries, the worth of machines increases, he said.

Michigan removes voters from its permanent voter registration lists when they fail to vote for two years. Butler would change this to four years, he said, as many persons do not vote in "off-year" elections, but only in presidential year elections every four years, so that many voters are dropped and required to re-register, who intend to continue as voters.

A new law cuts to 400 the number of registered voters permitted in a paper ballot election precinct. The old limit was 500. This will mean that Gladstone, which has had four precincts, will now have to have six, with a resulting increase in election officials. In voting machine precincts there must be a machine for every 500 voters.

Cooperation Offered

The county clerk is the nearest thing to a county manager that Michigan counties have under present structuring. Home Rule changes to permit reform in county governments are often proposed, but tend to bog down in the legislature. The most persistent criticism of county government is that it is inefficient, lacking an executive with broad powers so that its departments keep an autonomy which hampers coordination.

Butler said that Delta County governmental departments cooperate well. He heads two of them, the clerk's office and the register of deeds office. The register's office is the only county government office which pays its own way, Butler said. Its budget this year was $8,000 and it took in $12,711 in fees through October largely because of the revenue stamps on legal documents transferring ownership of the Chicago & North Western Railway are transferred to the City of Escanaba under a mortgage assuring repayment of a municipal industrial development bond issue, and the No. 3 paper machine at Escanaba Paper Co. to the Township of Cornell for similar reason.

Fees To Treasury

Only a few counties, like Alcona, keep the old practice of letting county clerks keep the fees of their offices, said Butler. All Delta's fees go to the county treasury. His fees as county clerk are about $5,000 a year and as circuit court clerk about $3,000.

Some counties have taken duties from the county clerk and have given them to a new office of county controller who handles the county's fiscal affairs. "In the bigger counties may be this is a good idea," said Butler, "but in a county of our size this is handled in my office with a saving of $12,000 to $15,000 a year for a controller, plus his clerical help.

The clerk is the only county officer who keeps accounts of all county government departments, except for such autonomous divisions as the Departments of Health, Social Services and Highways.

The new five-man county board of supervisors which succeeded the old 27-man board in implementing the one-man, one-vote rule is working out well, Butler believes. It has 24 regular meetings a year, plus special committee meetings at the rate of about six a month.

Board Members Felt

The old board met four to six times a year, with the old Ways and Means Committee of 19 members meeting oftener. Butler said the new board can meet public problems more easily than the old, facilitating response to citizen need, is much easier to get along with about as much time on county business as the old board and costs about the same.

County commissioners (supervisors) get paid $30 for a meeting of four hours or less, and $50 for a meeting of more than four hours. Most county boards, said Butler, pay their members a salary as well as, per diem, "with some counties smaller than Delta paying $100 a month plus $50 a meeting."

The board is organized now and on the verge of meeting only once a month, he said. "It is meeting in places throughout the county in an effort to bring government to the people. The largest turnout was at Garden, where people protested about the roads. After the meeting Garden Township came up with some outstanding funds and got its road work and it couldn't find any funds before that. Such meetings help understanding of government," he said.

Welfare Questions

Butler said that the No. 1 topic of inquiries to the clerk's office and county board is increased welfare payments and that most persons are seeking the welfare office and not the clerk.

There is a great increase in certifications of births and deaths and in recording of property transfers, said Butler. A switch is being made to loose leaf recording of births and deaths so they can be copied easily.

Computerization of recording has been suggested to the county along with the office and records to permit data processing, but dropped, at least for the present, as not desirable.

Selection of jurors has improved with switch from poll book names (and no addresses) to voter registration records, said Butler.

The 1978 Delta County budget is $734,118, compared with appropriation of $728,064 and estimated expenditure of $737,365 in the current year.

U.S. Cautious Before Making Arms Cut Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. negotiators plan to sound out Soviet representatives at Helsinki before offering any specific proposals to curb the superpower missile race.

The United States then will not open the U.S.-Soviet talks with a proposed moratorium on the development of multistage missiles—an idea which has had considerable support in Congress.

But President Nixon may send a generally worded message to the opening Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—next week, stressing American interest in halting the nuclear race.

Nixon met at length with the National Security Council Monday in shaping the U.S. approach to the long-awaited negotiations.

The preliminary discussions start in Helsinki next Monday and the chief U.S. negotiator, Gerard Z. Smith, intends to stop off at Brussels Friday to brief NATO allies.

The Americans hope during the preliminary round to find out about the Soviet approach to strategic disarmament and to stake out the boundaries for the future negotiations.

Washington now knows little about Moscow's concepts. For example, do Soviet strategists rate MIRVs—multiple independently targetable vehicles—and ABMs—antiballistic missiles—as part of the same weapons problem and thus favor dealing with both at the same time?

As for the scope of the negotiations, the United States wants to exclude from the bargaining those missiles it deems nonstrategic—not long-distance enough for an intercontinental strike.

This would leave out of the negotiations the 7,000 U.S. warheads reported positioned in West Europe to defend NATO countries and the Soviet missiles in East Europe aimed at West European targets.

Switch On As GOP Aide OK's Tax Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — In marked contrast to his reaction when the House produced its tax reform bill more than two months ago, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy has indicated the Nixon administration can live with the Senate Finance Committee version.

Spelling out administration reaction to the committee draft Monday for the first time, Kennedy switched roles from critic to supporter, defending it against complaints that it is too complex, too consumer-oriented and inflationary. He spoke to an oilmen's trade group in Houston.

Treasury officials here declined to say whether they will issue anything resembling the detailed bill of particulars Kennedy and Assistant Secretary Edwin S. Cohen, with President Nixon's approval, produced in response to the House bill in September. But Cohen is expected to spell out further Treasury reaction tonight in a speech at New York, and Kennedy has at least two more major speeches scheduled in the next two weeks.

Kennedy asked the Senate to reconsider only one part of the bill when it goes to the floor for debate: The built-in "revenue shortfall" for 1974-1980, when "we simply cannot foresee to-day what the revenue needs of the government will be."

He applauded the committee's decision to put off losses until 1972 and figure that it will produce more money from tax reform than it gives away in tax relief in 1970 and 1971, a period when the administration must want "substantial" budget surpluses to boost its campaign against inflation.

And, to add emphasis, he coupled his request with a repetition of an earlier warning that Nixon "has made it crystal clear that although he is dedicated to the cause of tax reform, he will not hesitate to veto the bill if the ultimate revenue shortfall is more than the country can stand." But he did not say the Senate bill—with a maximum cost of 8 1/2 billion in 1974—was expensive.

Wash. Armed As Violence Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several thousand troops across the country have been alerted to be ready for possible air-lifting to Washington in case violence erupts during this week's scheduled laborator activities in the nation's capital.

The Pentagon acknowledged that the word to be ready had gone out, but declined to say which units or how many are involved.

Among troops outside Washington that could be made available in addition to a total of about 20,000 military personnel stationed in the city's area, it was known, are elements of the 82nd Air Borne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Jerry Friedheim, Pentagon spokesman, acknowledged that forces outside a 100 mile radius of Washington were informed that they might be summoned to Washington.

LANING (AP) — An education reform workshop, sponsored by the Citizens to Advance Public Education, is scheduled Sunday in Lansing with representatives of the Michigan Association of School Boards, the House Speaker's office and the Wayne County School District expected to participate.

Uniform Consumer Code Being Backed

LANING (AP) — A high Commerce Department official, a banker and a former Federal Trade Commission attorney have joined in urging Michigan not to adopt a proposed uniform consumer credit code.

It is hard enough now for shoppers to find the best product for the money, the three said, without having to judge virtually unlimited interest rates and financing schemes that would be allowed under the proposed code.

Maurice Schomberger, deputy director of the State Commerce Department, said Monday the proposed code would allow virtually uncontrolled retail credit lending at rates of 10 to 15 per cent. It would replace several clearly and simply written laws with a single, vastly complicated and confusing statute, Schomberger added.

A House committee, chaired by Rep. Marvin Stumpson, D-Livonia, is conducting hearings on the wide-ranging bill to supplement the recently enacted federal "Truth in Lending" act.

The model code was drafted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. So far, it has been adopted only by Utah and Oklahoma.

The code would substantially simplify state laws covering retail interest rates and persons who may do business as money lenders.

While it would protect an employee from being fired for garnishment of his wages to settle a debt, the code would offer no restriction on black contracts and it would not protect a buyer against clauses in a contract requiring him to waive all rights against slight repudiation or collection procedures.

"People have a tough enough time shopping for products, let alone credit," said George Fink of the Michigan Attorney General's office. "They obviously don't have any choice in credit. People don't write their own contracts when they buy cars."

Finkle, who for two years worked in the Federal Trade Commission, said the proposed bill "will hurry the day of collapse." He predicted the bill would pave the way for home mortgage loans of 10 to 15 per cent interest.

Edward A. Trautz, executive vice president of the East Lansing State Bank, warned that allowing "unskilled lenders" to do business could cause severe inflation.

"We have a one-price system," Trautz said. "There's little price differential any more — the only difference is in the sale of advertising."

Admitting that his views are not held widely throughout the industry, Trautz advocated that banks be limited to banking and others — small loan companies and credit unions — be kept out.

"It's the people's money, but it's still held by an oligarchy — a few producers controlling the demand from a lot of buyers," Trautz said. "I'd hate to think of what kind of a can of worms you'd open up."

Trautz predicted the proposed code would cause even more people to declare bankruptcy in an effort to avoid paying higher interest rates.

Post Office Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 40,000 Post Office workers won a victory Monday in the Supreme Court when the justices let stand a ruling that liberalize overtime pay.

The ruling, given last February by an appeals court here, was challenged by the government as a misinterpretation of federal pay law. In seeking a hearing the government contended the ruling would cost the Treasury more than $100 million through this year.

But the high court, which is generally inclined to review decisions of lower courts that went against the government, decided in this instance to reject the government's appeal.

The core of the decision by the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia is that a post office worker is entitled to overtime pay when his days off are temporarily changed — even though he winds up working the normal 40 hours that week.

The government argued that the 1965 pay law provided for overtime pay only when the worker puts in more than 40 hours.

Until the law was enacted a Post Office worker could be called in on his day off and given a compensating day off within the following five days.

More people got more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Cavanagh Against Taxi Fare Hike

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh says he would not approve recommended fare increases for taxicabs even if the common council adopts it.

The mayor commented after auditor-general Victor McCormick recommended the increases. Cab owners asked for a 12.5 per cent increase in the first-mile rate, an 18.7 per cent increase for a three-mile trip, and a 30 per cent increase in the waiting-time charge.

Airline Subsidy Program Linked

DETROIT (AP) — About 30 non-automotive companies in Michigan have complained to federal authorities that airline fares for businessmen are discriminatory and often inflated.

They said the businessmen, in effect, subsidize groups, such as families, who are allowed special plans.

The protest was sent to the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Department of Transportation and to Michigan's congressional delegation. The businessmen were represented by the Industrial Travel Executives of Michigan.

TV Eyes For Blind Due In Few Years

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A tiny television camera worn like a miner's headlamp to give sight to the blind should be ready for testing on human beings in three to four years, an eye research scientist says.

Physicist Herbert Schummel of Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York told a seminar for science writers Sunday that miniaturization of equipment will permit fabrication of a prototype device next year.

"Tests with animals should come in 1971-72," he said, "followed by tests with humans in 1973-74."

Development of a television camera small enough to fit in the eye socket might come within five to ten years, Schummel said.

He said the artificial eyes would work this way:

Electronic signals from the cameras would be transmitted to tiny wires implanted in the brain in an area known as the visual cortex, which normally receives impulses from the eye. The brain would translate these signals into images which should show motion, depth and even color, Schummel said.

Another speaker at the seminar, sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., a philanthropic organization, demonstrated a wheelchair with a television attachment which enables occupants to "see" through their skins.

Dr. Paul Bach-y-Rita of the University of the Pacific Graduate School of Medical Sciences, San Francisco, said 40 blind students had learned to "see" with the device, some after as little as 10 hours of training.

Pair Honored

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan agriculture director B. Dale Ball and Pat Brown, plant manager of Mahogany Farms, Inc., near Williamston, have been honored for service to agriculture and youth activities.

The citation came during the recent Detroit Junior Livestock and Horse Show awards dinner at Detroit.

Astronaut Alan Bean Anxious As First Lunar Trip Nears Reality

SPACE CENTER, Houston — (AP) — In the seven years he has been an astronaut, Alan L. Bean claims the most dangerous thing he's done is play a spirited game of handball in the astronaut gymnasium.

He's the last member of the first three groups of astronauts to fly into space. Since his selection in 1963, he's been a bridesmaid twice—serving two times as a back up crewman—but Apollo 12 is his first space trip. And it's a big one.

Nearly Bald
Bean, a nearly bald, quiet-speaking Texan, will be the fourth man to walk the surface of the moon. He is the lunar module pilot on the second moon landing mission—scheduled to be launched Friday—and will spend about seven hours walking the moon.

While waiting for his chance to fly, Bean has spent more time than most playing handball in the astronaut gym and is one of the better players of the popular spaceman's sport.

"It's darn dangerous on that small court," he said.

Hot Navy Pilot
Bean is something of a paradox. He looks more like a quietly living lower-level executive than a hot Navy pilot who admittedly relishes the daring, the different and the dangerous.

The spirit of the daredevil has been a part of Bean's makeup since he was a toddler, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bean of Fort Worth, Tex.

His mother said that at 4 he frightened the neighbors by climbing to the top of a roof and walking its ridge.

Alan L. Bean

"He was always climbing to the top of some tree and testing the strength of its limbs," she says. "He always liked to be up high when he was little and to go fast."

This trait led naturally into a fascination for flying, and as a youth he hung around pilots at the naval air station in Grand Prairie, near Fort Worth.

When he turned 17, Bean quickly joined the Naval Reserve, the first step toward Navy wings.

After graduation from high school in 1962, Bean went to the University of Texas on a Navy scholarship. He majored in aeronautical engineering and made firm plans to be a Navy pilot.

Graduated in 1965

He was graduated in 1965, received a Navy commission and then earned his wings. After four years on an attack squadron, Bean attended the Navy test pilot school at Patuxent River, Md., and remained there as a test pilot after graduation. He flew all the Navy aircraft, from the hottest jets to the slowest helicopters.

Bean was on another attack squadron when the space agency selected him as a member of the third group of astronauts.

The Texan said he was happy to be flying on Apollo 12 with two experienced spacemen, Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., the commander, and Richard F. Gordon Jr., the command module pilot.

All three are Navy commanders.

Father Of 2 Children
Bean is married to a very pretty blonde, the former Sue Ragdale of Dallas. They met while in college and both were on the gymnastics team.

They have two children—Clay, 13, and Sammy Sue, 6. Bean listed "playing with his children" as his favorite hobby, but he's also a good amateur painter.

The Beans are active Methodists. They were charter members of the Clear Lake Methodist church, near the Manned Spacecraft Center, and Bean attends most Sundays that he's in town. He once taught a Sunday School class, but had to quit because training for the Apollo flight kept him away from home so much.

Major Factors In Life
"Two things are major factors in a man's life," the 37-year-old spaceman said. "One is his technical knowledge and ability. The other is his ethics, which are mainly the result of religious conviction."

As with all spacemen preparing for flights, Bean is immersed totally. He recently took some friends to a ball game at the Astrodome in nearby Houston. They were startled when he took along a technical book. While they watched the game, he quietly studied.

Migrant Slain

BEULAH (AP)—A worker at a migrant camp in Benzie County's Joyfield Township died Monday from stab wounds reportedly suffered at the camp Sunday. He was identified as Arthur Kendall.

Stolen Credit Cards Detroit Firm's Target

DETROIT (AP) — Don Hill, a 23-year-old black Detroit resident, is hoping to ride one of the waves of the future into business prosperity. He's organized a firm to help people who lose credit cards.

"We guarantee to stop liability on any stolen or lost credit card within minutes of the time we're notified," said Hill in the offices of Credit Card Registry International.

"We already have a number of clients," he said. "This has come about through word of mouth, but we're planning on mounting a major advertising campaign."

Hill's service, similar to those in some other cities, would protect credit card owners for $8.50 a year. If the cards are lost or stolen Registry is notified and immediately reports by telegram to the firms issuing the cards.

Stolen credit cards are becoming big business in the underworld. They sell on the black market for $100 or more depending on the card and its relative purchasing power. Ten cards in a wallet or purse is common and some carry 30 and more, Hill said.

Credit card thieves have flown across the country and charged thousands of dollars in purchases at department stores before the losers got around to notifying their credit companies, Detroit police said.

Hill, who has been in the cadet programs for both the Detroit police and fire departments, said he got his inspiration for his firm through newspaper advertisements. He said he wasn't satisfied with the opportunities in the fire and police businesses.

Detroit Priests Eying Strike?

DETROIT (AP)—A group of about 25 Roman Catholic priests said it will strike off 200 priests in the Detroit archdiocese to take a strike vote unless a new system is adopted to hear grievances by Nov. 30.

"The failure of the archdiocese of Detroit to address itself to the problems of priests has not only caused an exodus of priests but a feeling of frustration and resentment among priests remaining in the church," said Kenneth E. Prether, an attorney for the group.

The 35 are members of the Association of Detroit Priests. There was no immediate comment on the group's demands from John Cardinal Dearden, archbishop of Detroit, who was presiding at sessions of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops in Washington.

Prether said the main item the priests wanted was due process.

He defined it as a system or procedure of "fair play" where a priest with a grievance can be heard before an impartial body empowered to make a decision.

The board would have priests and church members on them, instead of the church hierarchy.

A spokesman for Cardinal Dearden said he had been searching for some time to find a way for "priests to express their grievances and have them satisfied. The Archdiocesan Personnel Commission exists precisely for this purpose."

The diocese spokesman also said the priests' senate is active in the matter, and efforts are being made to standardize practices for the entire state.

Prether said in the proposed statement the ADP, formed in 1968, wants to create a "climate wherein priests can act with vision, freedom and initiative in the priesthood."

Other goals, he said, are to develop growth in professional competence, and to ensure due process and responsible negotiating with the archbishop in personnel matters.

The attorney said the archdiocese is faced with problems of declining enrollments of students to become priests and men leaving the priesthood.

He said in 1967-68 there were 648 seminary students engaged in high school, college and theology studies, compared with 485 this year. He said there are only 19 students who are in the first year theology class.

Last year 34 priests left the ministry, and so far this year another 20 have departed.

Prether said there is "dissatisfaction among priests, especially associate pastors, that the structure of the Catholic Church instead of being a catalyst for Christian action interferes with the duties and aspirations of the priests."

He also charged there was a failure by the archdiocese to listen to priests on what should be done within the archdiocese, and that priests have not been allowed to participate in the decision making.

Famous Atomic Physicist Dies

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Harrison M. Randall, 58, a pioneer physicist whose work in the early part of the century contributed to the theory of atomic structure, died Monday.

He broke a hip in a fall at his home a month ago and had been at University Hospital in Ann Arbor where he underwent surgery.

He was a specialist in infrared spectroscopy. In 1940, the year he retired, Randall became the first University of Michigan professor to have a building named after him.

After his retirement as a U-M professor, Randall became active in the study of bacteriology.

Funeral services will be private.

Children's Book Week Begins Sunday

In 1970, Book Week was begun by far-sighted individuals who cared greatly about children and books.

One of the founders of Book Week, Frederic Melcher emphasized its importance when he wrote, "... by having this one special week we reaffirm our own interest and catch the attention of others who may think that children's reading is not their concern. It is. It is everyone's concern."

This year, the 50th anniversary of Children's Book Week, the slogan is, "Book Power." During the week of Nov. 16-22, we will be reminded that today's children are tomorrow's citizens. That while other mediums of education and recreation have pushed their way to the front, the printed word still has meaning.

Ecansaba Public Library will join in this 50th celebration with an open invitation to one and all to visit the Children's Department. Visitors will receive not only book marks for the occasion, but booklets containing annotations of good books available to boys and girls entitled, "Growing Up With Books."

The Children's Department, as well as the entire library, is open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., daily; 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on Saturday; closed Sundays and holidays.

A Story Time is also offered each Saturday during the school year. Children from the age of three and up are invited to attend as are any interested adults.

School groups are welcome by special arrangement with the library for story sessions, book talks, or library orientation. A professional Children's Librarian is available for reader advisory service and book selection aid.

Buckeyes Retain Solid Poll Lead

By The Associated Press
It's a bird, it's a plane, it's Ohio State!
Ohio State's impregnable Buckeyes, the supermen of college football, continue to fly high as the nation's No. 1 team. The Buckeyes, who hit the bullseye last weekend with a 39-7 domination of Wisconsin, drew 25 of 25 first place votes Monday in the weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters across the nation.

The men of steel from the Midwest roped 618 points overall and kept a stranglehold on first over Texas' battering Longhorns, 570, a 36-14 winner over Baylor.

Tennessee, which cut down South Carolina, 29-14, remained third, while Arkansas, a 30-6 winner over Rice, stayed fourth, and Penn State remained in fifth place after an idle week-end.

The Top Ten remained virtually the same as last week. Notre Dame dropped from eighth to ninth and Missouri climbed a spot to eighth in the only change.

Southern California held onto sixth after pasting Washington State, 28-7. UCLA stayed in seventh after a day off; Missouri hammered Oklahoma, 44-10; Notre Dame unloaded on Pitt, 49-7, and No. 10 Purdue ran over Michigan State, 41-13.

Both Ohio State and Texas managed to win big despite depleted squads. Rex Kern, the Buckeyes' magical junior quarterback, was out with an injury and 14 starters were on the shelf for Texas with a virus.

The Buckeyes, unbeaten in seven games, risk their record and ranking this weekend against Purdue, probably their toughest challenge of the season.

Few changes marked the Second Ten. Auburn and Louisiana State held on to 11th and 12th places respectively. Stanford moved up from 14th to 13th and Michigan made the biggest advance—from No. 18 to No. 14.

Florida, Georgia and Nebraska rank 15th, 16th and 17th. Mississippi is 18th, Houston, 19th, and the Air Force, No. 20.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points. Points awarded for first 15 places based on 20-18-14-12-10-8-6 etc.:

Gillman Quits Coaching; Names Waller To Succeed

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It was the high point of the San Diego Chargers' downhill season, a victory over the New York Jets. General Manager-Head Coach Sid Gillman knelt along the sideline. He couldn't bear the pain of standing.

Six weeks after that American Football League upset, Gillman, 58, stepped down Monday as head coach, following the advice of his son-in-law doctor, Jay Malkoff.

Gillman, the only general manager and head coach the Chargers have had since the AFL was founded in 1960, remains as general manager. He announced at a hastily called news conference that offensive backfield coach Charlie Waller, 47, is his successor.

The new head coach came to the Chargers four years ago from Clemson. A veteran of 23 years as an assistant coach, which included stints at Texas and Auburn, it is Waller's first head coaching job.

Waller played as a halfback at the University of Georgia. Gillman, who coached the Chargers to an 83-51 record, said of his health:

"It's nothing serious, nothing that can't be licked in time," Malkoff said. Gillman was suffering from a duodenal ulcer and an hiatal hernia, which allows stomach acid to seep up into the esophagus.

"He shouldn't have been out on the field," the doctor said of Gillman at the Sept. 28 game against New York. "He collapsed. He couldn't stand up for an entire quarter. He had to kneel there on the sideline."

That's when Malkoff started urging Gillman, in his 26th season as a head coach, to take it easy. Gillman was given a strict diet and he gulped cartons of milk. His team's play did nothing to help his condition.

"The only way to heal the hernia is to rest and get rid of stress," Malkoff said. "He can't do it on the field."

After New York the Chargers edged Cincinnati, Miami and Boston, then started a three-game losing streak against Oakland. Their record is 4-5, tying them for last in the Western Division.

"It wasn't our football that prompted my decision," Gillman said. "Physically, it meant either die with football or continue to live."

"My only disappointment is to finish this way. I never had any thought of quitting coaching. I was going to go and go and go."

Canadiens Win Sixth Straight; Take First

By The Associated Press
It took Jean Beliveau only two minutes to get Montreal rolling past Los Angeles...and into first-place in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Beliveau scored twice in the opening two minutes Monday night in guiding the Canadiens to a 6-3 victory and a one-point lead over idle New York in the ragged older division chase.

Boston snapped a five-game winless streak by romping past Oakland 8-3 in the night's only other NHL activity.

It was the third straight victory for the Canadiens, now unbeaten in their last six games.

The game was just 1:16 old when Beliveau scored his third goal of the season. The Kings tied it nine seconds later on Terry Irvine's marker, but Beliveau countered at 2:04 to put Montreal ahead for good.

Bobby Rousseau and Henri Richard each added long range first period markers to boost the command to 4-1.

Jacques Lemaire accounted for the Canadiens' lone marker in the second period on a 30-foot slap shot, and Mickey Redmond's ninth goal of the season finished Montreal's scoring early in the final session.

Eddie Joyal and Leon Rochefort scored the Kings' other goals.

Linemates Johnny Bucyk and John McKenzie each scored two goals and Bobby Orr contributed three assists as the Bruins moved into a third-place tie with Detroit, just two points back of Montreal.

son snapped a 1-1 tie and put the Bruins ahead for good at 23:49 of the first period. He also scored in the second period in addition to picking up a pair of assists.

Wildcat Cagers Set Scrimmage At Esky Gym

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan's basketball Wildcats will make their second pre-season "road" appearance in an intra-squad scrimmage Wednesday night at the Escanaba Area High School gymnasium, beginning at 6:30.

Sponsored by the NMU Delta County Alumni Chapter, the Escanaba session will include a brief clinic by head coach Glenn Brown and a game-conditions scrimmage between the White and Green squads.

Also playing in Wednesday night's game will be Larry Ruffalo of Marquette, Brian Oulmette of Iron Mountain and Al Inkala of Wakefield. Oulmette was the leading scorer on last season's freshman squad at Northern.

Northern alumni attending tomorrow night's session are invited to an alumni reception following the game at the Pioneer Motor Inn.

National War Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders are trying to coax words, wires and letters of support from Nixon's "silent majority" with a form letter as part of the campaign.

Sen. Earl W. Borek took the form letter approach in urging the South Dakota constituents to support his support for the President.

The weekly newsletter supplies a clip-and-mail coupon to be signed and sent back to Washington declaring: "Count me as a member of the silent majority no longer so silent. Please tell President Nixon I support his plans for peace."

The Republican National Committee, meanwhile, said the response to Nixon's Nov. 8 speech swamped the White House.

"My week's end he had received more than 10,000 yes votes and they're still coming," the committee's newsletter said.

With a new round of antiwar protests planned in Washington later this week, Nixon supporters urged participation in today's Veterans Day observance.

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., said these observances were not a counter-demonstration, "but rather a way for the silent majority to articulate and be heard in the support of the President."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew urged the nation to recognize "a young silent majority who go to school, and to work, and to war if necessary."

He said they are being overshadowed by "the extreme minority" of dissidents.

But in Washington, Sen. J. A. Fulbright, D-Ark., charged that Agnew was arousing "extreme emotionalism" which was having a bad effect on the nation.

Fulbright, a leading critic of the government's Vietnam policy, said he has been receiving "the most threatening and menacing letters" that he has received in 10 years.

"I blame this on the accusation that those who disagree with the administration's Vietnam policy are traitors and the direct charge by Agnew that we (conservative critics of the administration's Vietnam policy) are responsible for the continuation of the war and increased battle deaths," Fulbright said.

Three tickets were issued in a two-car accident investigated by Michigan State Police Saturday at 8:47 p.m. An auto driven by Jack Lumbert, 19, Cadillac, struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Johann Ingold, 42, South St. Marie, as the Ingold vehicle was making a left turn off U.S. 3 in Manistique Township into a private driveway.

Lumbert was attempting to pass the Ingold vehicle when the collision occurred.

Lumbert was ticketed for improper passing and no insurance proof while Ingold was cited for no registration certificate. No personal injuries were reported.

Some Absentee Detroit Mayor Votes Uncounted

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit election officials acknowledged today that a total of 106 absentee ballots cast in the Nov. 4 mayoral election were never counted.

Officials said the ballots were not delivered to polling places in time.

"To my knowledge, nothing like this has ever happened before in a Detroit election," said John A. Smith, director of the city election Commission.

Smith said the uncounted ballots were cast by absentee voters who did not appear at the polls on election day.

Smith said he had the ballots counted and had the results of the count made available to the public.
